Red Scarlett's Adoption Requirements

- Must leave the building on a Weiss Walkie harness. You may bring your own or purchase one in our store.
- Must have a secure crate - if you already have one, bring it with you for transportation purposes or purchase one in our store.
- Must purchase a starter kit to set her up for success in her new home.

Strongly Recommended for Red Scarlett

- Shy Dog Classes - Red Scarlett has not lived in a home and has had very little human interaction, so she'll need patience and positive reinforcement training to help her gain confidence.
- A social canine already in the home - this will be the first time these dogs have ever been without another dog at their side. Having a social dog already in the home will help these pups come out of their shell sooner and will make them more comfortable in their new environment. If there is not another dog in the home, they will need frequent and routine access to one nearby (ie: a neighbor, friend, or family member's dog)
- A fenced-in yard - even with a fence, these dogs should always be supervised and on-leash, as some of the dogs have been known to jump fences/open doors.
